

PLAYER PROFILE

This week Boggy Ward from Old Iggies (OI) interviews 4th grade coach, and player Greg Easy (GE)

Greg Easy

OI The Man with a million nicknames?

GE So Easy!, Greasy; GE, Supercalfs; Supercoach

OI I have been asking a few people? Were you also pissed off about missing out on selection in the “Dave Bryant’s Testimonial Team of the Century”?

GE Yep. I have dedicated my life to that guy and to get snubbed was a real life altering moment. I will have to re-assess my goals.

OI Best Player you played with?

GE Dom & Thomas in the back yard (& Gab . . . hehehe)

OI On a serious note. I believe you an RG (last years 1st grade coaches) have the record for the most consecutive losses? Is this correct

GE Yes – it lasted 18 months.

OI What makes you think you are capable of coaching with sort of record?

GE Firstly I am not getting paid and still have a better record that St George’s Nathan Brown. PS – I also have a good team around me. Arco, Guy Coleman and of course Boggy Ward, he has been really good when he is not injured and not on holidays. [Edit – bullshit]

OI Are you addicted to Old Boys Rugby?

GE I don’t know what you mean? I think about the club every minute of the day (except when I am on the job . . . hehehe) and I get depressed during the off season. So now that I think about it? No – definitely not addicted.

OI Any injuries at the moment?

GE No pretty good at the moment. The ankles are swollen, calfs . . . you know they are always cramping but they are huge and I have had to live with that. Knees are good except on workdays. Strained the hamstring last week, Groin hurts constantly (except when I am on the job . . . hehehe). Sternum has never been better, Shoulders are held together with tape and my “Mansiere”/”Bro”. But as you know Bog. . . . the game is played in the head and that is as quick and as alert as ever.
